

WILSON TAKES HAND IN RAILWAY TROUBLE

President Meets Both Parties to Threatened General Strike

TO CONFER AGAIN TODAY

Foundation Appears to Have Been Laid to Furnish Work- ing Basis for Agreement

LEADERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—President Wilson conferred today with both parties to the threatened countrywide railway strike and tonight it appeared that sufficient foundation had been laid to furnish a working basis for a settlement of the differences of the employees and employers. The president will meet both sides again tomorrow. At the conclusion of the day's conferences the president issued this statement:

"I have met both sides and have gone over the case with the utmost frankness. I shall not be able to judge until tomorrow whether we have found a feasible basis for settlement."

The foremost questions are what shall be arbitrated, if arbitration is to be resorted to and what form of arbitration shall be adopted.

Representatives of the employees maintain their demand for an eight hour day and time and a half for overtime is the only concrete proposition under discussion. They insisted to the president in their conference today that the railroad make some definite counter proposal. If the railroad submitted some proposed form of settlement they said, they would be ready to discuss negotiations further.

The employees are understood to be ready to consent to the principle of arbitration if the contingent proposals of the managers, which the men claim involve rights they have won in thirty years efforts, are eliminated from consideration and if arbitration is conducted by a board on which all four brotherhoods are represented.

Immediately after leaving the employees position the president summoned the committee of managers and held a long conference with them. They left the white house to confer among themselves through the night, if necessary and the general understanding was that they discussed the advisability of withdrawing their "contingency" proposals and submitting a proposition "without strings as demanded by the men."

While representatives of the employees insisted that they had not yet agreed to arbitrate any feature of the differences, there was a growing impression that arbitration or some form of compromise, would be agreed upon. At no time, it was said, did the representatives of the men indicate the least unless their demands were met unqualifiedly they would go on strike.

Both sides refused absolutely to discuss their meeting with the president or venture any forecast on the probable outcome of the negotiations but leaders of the two factions were optimistic tonight that a strike would be avoided.

The president it was declared made no compromise propositions to either side today. He merely listened to the employees' representatives and then talked with the managers and suggested that some concrete working basis be agreed upon before proceeding further. Indicative of his desire to learn what results come from the railroad managers' meeting tonight before taking any further step, he arranged another meeting with them from nine o'clock tomorrow morning, and conferences with the representatives of the employees for three o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow's cabinet meeting has been cancelled so the president may devote most of his time to the railroad problem. He cancelled several engagements today that he might have the fullest opportunity to talk with the two sides.

A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and spokesman for the employees representatives made it clear today that under no circumstances will the employees agree to arbitration under the Newland's act. The boards of arbitration provided by that act, they maintain, are too small. The balance of power they contend is too close and as a result the employees have suffered. Indications were that the president realizing this situation might propose a special board of arbitration if the negotiations reach the arbitrating stage, composed of as many as twelve men, including representatives of all the brotherhoods.

Reports that the president had notified the managers that unless

ISSUE THIRD EDITION OF AMERICAN WHITE BOOK

CONTAINS COPIES OF CORRESPONDENCE WITH BELLIGERENTS

Reveals Textually Some of the Memoranda Dealing With Armed Merchantmen. Presence of Allied Cruisers off American Ports and Other Subjects.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The third edition of the American White Book, containing tabulated copies of correspondence exchanged by the state department with European belligerents during recent months has just been issued by the department. It reveals textually for the first time some of the memoranda dealing with armed merchantmen, the presence of allied cruisers off American ports and other subjects.

Secretary Lansing's suggestion that merchantment be disarmed is shown to have been firmly rejected by all of the allied powers. The British ambassador in a memorandum dated March 23rd, rummaging up their position by saying the allies are unable to agree that upon a non-guaranteed German promise, human life must be surrendered defenseless to the mercy of an enemy who in circumstances of this kind, as in many others has shown himself to be both faithless and lawless.

Secretary Lansing on November 16th, 1915, it is shown, sent a note to the German ambassador summarizing a dozen cases in which German officers and men had escaped from German cruisers interned in the United States declaring that the United States government regards the action of these men as contrary to its expressed instructions and as breaches of honorable conduct, and requesting that the German government promptly return any of these men who may be within German jurisdiction to the United States.

It is disclosed that in a note dated March 20th, answering a complaint from Secretary Lansing regarding the presence of British cruisers near American territorial waters express some surprise at the state department's attempt "to distinguish between different parts of the high seas" and says that he is "unaware of the existence of any rules or principles of international law which render belligerent operations which are legitimate in one part of the high seas illegitimate in another."

The latest chapters of the correspondence with Germany over the Lusitania case are not included in the White Book.

She had a full cargo of fish.

The men were parted by R. M. Ferreira, in front of whose store they were when the fight was at its worst. Graves was found a short time later in the yard of a Reid street resident and was taken to Passavant hospital.

HUGHES CRITICISES TARIFF LEGISLATION

Asserts Democrats Not Equal to Protecting In- dustries By Tariff

SPEAKS TO WOMEN

Nominee Defends Himself On the Charge That He Lacks Constructive Policy

TO SPEAK AT TACOMA TODAY

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 14.—Charles E. Hughes tonight told an audience in Spokane's stadium that the proposed Democratic legislation against the dumping of foreign made goods in this country after the war was not worth the paper on which it is written.

"This piece of legislation," said Mr. Hughes, "would be about as available as one piece of paper I hold in my hand, in effect in protecting the American people in the economic war that will come when peace comes to Europe."

Mr. Hughes read a synopsis of the proposed legislation. The Democratic party he said was not equal to the task of protecting American industries by a tariff.

"If you want to see what they are equal to," he said, "sit down and put a towel around your head, get down close to it and study it, read over and over again and then you would be puzzled to know what it meant. If you found out what it meant you would agree with me that it was obviously ineffective and would not work."

"Now, what would a prosecuting attorney have to prove as a violation of this act?" Mr. Hughes continued after reading the synopsis.

"He has got to prove that this act of commonly and systematically bringing goods into this country contrary to their prohibition, is being violated. He has got to prove that such act is done with the intent to destroy or injure any industry of the United States. If he doesn't prove that he has got to prove that it is for the purpose of preventing the establishment of an industry in the United States for the purpose of retraining any part of the commerce of the United States."

"Why that is a piece of legislation that would be about as available as that piece of paper in my hand, in effect, in protecting the American people in this economic war."

"Now there was a remedy, a countervailing duty which was proposed but our friends were so strong to their traditions of tariff for revenue only that they would have none of it."

"I am desirous that this matter of the tariff should be attended to without a fuss, and if I am elected I shall endeavor to the best of my ability to see that principle applied for the public good and not for private gain."

Mr. Hughes devoted his attention almost exclusively at the night meeting here to a discussion of the tariff. At an earlier meeting he addressed his first audience composed exclusively of women voters and at an address at Couer d'Alene, Idaho, at noon defended himself on the charge that he lacked constructive policy.

In the discussion of the tariff tonight the nominee declared that the Democratic party claimed credit for the "great prosperity that the country is enjoying today."

"They seem to think," he said, "that the American people are so lacking in intelligence that they do not know the sources of that prosperity. They seem to think that the American people have very short memories. I think it will be found on election day that the American people have very good memories. Our opponents proposed four years ago to reduce the cost of living. They said that what was necessary was to reduce the tariff and that done, down would come the cost of living. They proceeded to reduce the cost of living. What they did was to reduce the opportunities to make a living. They did that rife effectively."

The nominee reviewed conditions of unemployment in the country soon after the outbreak of the European war. Had there been a taking of stock at that time, he said, had the American people "been able to voice its condemnation there would not have been much left of the Democratic party for the people understood what had happened to the American commonwealth, and why."

Mr. Hughes referred to the fact that exports are higher today than ever before.

"I am told that in zinc alone exports jumped in a year 3,000 per cent," he added. Exports of mules jumped 2,500 per cent in one year. Perhaps that was due to the Democratic party.

"Why, it is an insult to the in-

TROUBLE DEPARTMENT HAS BEEN REORGANIZED

Light Company Will Keep Man in Office During Storms to Receive Trouble Reports—Quicker Relief Work Will Thus Be Possible.

Superintendent Gray of the Jacksonville Railway & Light company has effected the reorganization of the trouble department of the company. It has been arranged to have a man remain in the office during storms or immediately afterward to receive complaints. This plan will be carried out, no matter what time of the day or night the storms come. This arrangement will make it possible to give much quicker relief than would otherwise be true. Following the storms the past week troubles were given attention in very rapid order and the excellence of the plan now being followed was shown by the fact that the gas and electrical services was not de-normalized as is the case in a great many other cities. An example of the service was given in the case of Swift & Co., where a transformer was burned out Sunday morning. The men worked from early morning until noon and repaired the demand, no interruption in service resulting.

STRUGGLE FOR CHILD CAUSED SHOOTING

Mrs. Hardin Fired Three Shots at Leslie Hill Who Sought Possession of Daughter—Matters Will Now Be Settled in Peaceful Way

A shooting affray took place on North West street Sunday afternoon in which no one was injured. The affair was the result of an attempt made by Leslie Hill of Petersburg, a former resident here, to take his six year old daughter from the home of Mrs. Myrtle Hardin on North West street, where the child has been staying for a year past since the death of her mother. Mrs. Hardin made objection to the child's going and fired three shots at Hill altho none of them took effect. Some persons in the neighborhood believe the woman simply tried to frighten the man away. Mrs. Hardin and Hill were both arrested by officers White and Vierira and taken to police headquarters but were subsequently released on bond. Mrs. Hardin caused some commotion in Chief Davis' office by fainting while the questioning was going on. It is understood that Hill has taken the proper legal steps for the recovery of his child and that she is to go to Petersburg with him and live with relatives. Three other children are in the Baptist home in Chicago.

Intelligence of the American people to credit that abnormal artificial prosperity produced by the horrible war abroad to the policies of the Democratic party.

Mr. Hughes also assailed the administration for what he termed its lack of preparedness to meet the situation on the Mexican border charging that the administration had changed its mind over night on the preparedness issue, "when a great leader went thru the country" telling the need of preparedness, and reiterated that he stood for an adequate reasonable measure of preparedness. The nominee left here tonight at 9:45 for Tacoma where he will speak tomorrow.

CAUCUS APPROVES REVENUE MEASURE

Vote Comes After Demo- crats Debate Various Sections Exhaustively

WILL YIELD $205,000,000

Bill to Be Reported to Senate Differs in Several Respects From House Bill

PROVIDES FOR TARIFF BODY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The administration bill as amended by the senate finance committee was approved late tonight by the Democratic senate caucus and will be reported in the senate by Wednesday. The measure, leaders estimate, will yield $205,000,000 annually, an increase of $7,500,000 over the estimated revenue as it passed the house.

Final approval of the measure was voted after the caucus, which began session on the measure a week ago, had debated the various sections exhaustively and had defeated many motions to alter the provisions inserted by the committee. As it will be reported the measure differs in several important respects from the house bill. Its principal provisions include a surtax on incomes, an inheritance tax, a ten per cent net profit-tax on the manufacture of war munitions, a five per cent tax on manufacturers of materials entering into munitions, a license tax of fifty cents per thousand on the capital stock of corporations, liquor taxes, and miscellaneous stamp taxes.

The bill also provides for the creation of a non-partisan tariff commission. Early tonight the caucus approved a committee amendment increasing the salaries of the proposed commissioners from $7,500 to $10,000, and just before adjournment $7,500 salary restored. Provision also is made in a section approved tonight for a tariff of coal tar dye-stuffs and medicinal derivatives, to encourage the manufacture in the United States.

As approved by the caucus the tax on still wines will be at the rate of eight cents per wine gallon, and the tax on grape brandy or wine spirits used in the fortification of sweet wines will be five cents per proof gallon as against ten cents proposed in the house bill.

On champagne and sparkling wine a tax of three cents would be levied on each half pint, on artificially carbonated wine 2 1/2 cents per half pint, and on each bottle or other container of cordials or similar compounds 1 1/2 cents per half pint.

The house provision for the creation of a tariff commission was approved with a senate committee amendment increasing salaries of the commissioners from $7,500 to $10,000 a year. The commission would consist of six members to be appointed by the president no more than three of whom shall be members of the same political party. In view of the adoption last night of the license stock of corporations the caucus voted to eliminate stamp tax on express and freight bills of lading and telephone and telegraph messages. Stamp taxes are retained however on bonds, debentures, conveyances and custom house receipts, insurance policies, foreign steamship tickets and Pullman car seats and berths.

Several party leaders waged a losing fight against the dyestuffs tariff. In approving the proposal, however, the caucus included an amendment under which the duties will not become effective until the close of the European war, however, or until conditions of importation should have been substantially restored. It also was provided that all existing duties upon dyestuffs should be suspended during the period of the war.

BRANDEIS UNABLE TO SERVE ON COMMISSION

JUSTICE BRANDEIS WRITES LETTER TO PRESIDENT WILSON

Mass of Business Before Court Prevents Acceptance of Wilson's Designation to Serve on Commission to Take up Mexican Difficulties.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the supreme court informed President Wilson tonight that because of the mass of business before the court he would be unable to accept the president's designation to serve on the joint commission which will attempt to solve the difficulties between the United States and Mexico.

Justice Brandeis conferred with the president and Attorney General Gregory late in the day and the question of the justice's accepting was gone over thoroughly. Later the following letter from Justice Brandeis to the president was made public at the white house:

"My Dear Mr. President:

"I appreciate the opportunity for high service with membership on the Mexican commission would present, but upon consultation with the chief justice I find that the state of the business of the supreme court at the present time to be such that it is my duty not to undertake this important constructive task. The giving out of Justice Brandeis' letter was the first formal announcement that he had been offered the post altho it had been known definitely that he and Secretary Lane were two of the three men selected by the president for membership on the commission. The name of the third man has not been made public.

Not only were the people unable to work, says El Pueblo, but extortionate prices were charged for drinking water and candles, which made necessary by the waterworks and electric lights being thrown out of commission.

HARNESS RACING AT HALF-CENTURY MARK.
New York, Aug. 14.—With more than a thousand trotting meetings scheduled thruout the country for the present season it is difficult for those not acquainted with the facts to realize that the beginning of trotting meetings dates back only a half a century. It is a matter of record, however, that the first big harness meeting ever held in the United States or elsewhere, was opened at Buffalo just fifty years ago today. The meeting caused a great stir among the followers of trotting all over the country, especially when it was announced that $12,000 in purses would be distributed. Up to that time practically all the best horses met only in match races or in special contests arranged for particular starters. "Premiums" of $100 for a little more were sometimes offered for "trials of speed" at agricultural fairs, but these were usually limited to one a day and were usually together only local or third rate horses. The success of the Buffalo meeting resulted in a great boom in harness racing and led to the organization of the sport in all sections.

AUSTRO-GERMANS STILL FALLING BACK

Russians Claim Advances Along The Sereth and Zlota Lipa Rivers

TAKE FORTIFIED TOWN

Berlin Says Russ Attacks Were Put Down South of Brody on the Lub

CLAIM SUCCESS OVER BRITISH

The Austrians and Germans in Galicia are still falling back before the advance of the Russians, who, according to Petrograd have made additional gains along the Sereth and Zlota Lipa rivers and captured the strongly fortified town of Tustobaya northwest of the Dniester.

On the upper Sereth, however, the Teutonic allies at some points on their newly chosen line are holding back the Russians with a vigorous artillery fire.

Berlin says that south of Brody on the Lub and Graberka sector, Russian attacks were put down with heavy losses and that Russians who had penetrated Teutonic positions on the Zboroff-Konjucy line northeast of Tarnopol, were driven off and 300 of them taken prisoner. According to Vienna a Russian attack southwest of Podkamien, near Brody, ended with the field before the Austro-German positions covered with Russian dead.

No change took place Monday along either the British or French lines in France, bad weather hindering the operations, which were confined almost exclusively to artillery duels. According to Berlin, the British have been expelled from trenches over a front of 700 yards southwest of Thiepval-Pozieres sector which they occupied Sunday. On the Isonzo front according to Rome the Italians have made still further advances against the Austrians along the Carso plateau and east of Hill No. 212. In the latter sector another line of trenches was penetrated and more men taken prisoner.

In the Gorizia sector the Austrian guns are being busily employed against the Italians. Here, according to Vienna, seven charges of the Italians were put down by the Austrians.

Petrograd reports a continuation of the Turkish offensive on the Persian frontier, but asserts that a retreat of the Turks has been forced on the southwest bank of Lake Van. Turkish Armenia, thru the fire of the Russian flotilla on the lake. The Turkish war office says the Russians in Persia continue to be driven back by the Ottoman troops and that in Armenia north of Bitlis the Turks have made further advance. The British torpedo boat destroyer Lasso has been sunk by a German submarine.

CO. B RETURNS FROM CAMP.

Company B returned to Jacksonville early Monday morning after a week spent in camp at what was Camp Danne. The camping place and mobilization headquarters of the Illinois regiments of infantry is now once more just the State Fair grounds. Co. B returned in good condition and although they saw a week of hard work, they are none the worse for the wear. They got a glimpse in a very small way of what military life on the border might be. The one thing to mark the good times the men was the discharge of two men in the local company for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Capt. Owen and other officers of the Fifth and Sixth who had been detailed as recruiting officers were returned to their commands. This was due to the fact that the Mexican situation is quiet for the present at least and it is not thought necessary to maintain so many recruiting stations.

Bad weather in a way marred some of the activities that had been prepared. The show battle that was scheduled for Sunday failed to materialize on account of the heavy rain that was falling. However the camp was a successful one in most respects and the men are still anxious to see more of real army life.

Willard Young of Litchberry was a visitor in the city yesterday.

The Council's Paving Plan.

The determination of the city council to repave or repave all the streets near the business district of Jacksonville is justified by conditions. Some of these streets are in really dangerous condition and it has been stated more than once that some of the streets would be better for travel if the remaining portions of the top course of brick were removed and simply the lower course and cinders left.

That these streets are in bad condition means in most instances simply that the life of the pavement is gone—that the limit of the period of deterioration has been reached and that a new pavement must be laid. It has been so many years since any paving work has been done in Jacksonville that now the conditions justify and require some very extensive work in that line.

The council has also indicated clearly that in providing for pavement materials they desire to follow the wishes of the majority. Now it remains for property owners to "speak up" and let the council know what they prefer in paving material. If this is done promptly so that the first hearings can be called, after provision has been made for the material the majority desires, a great deal of delay and expense will be obviated.

Mr. Roper's "Preparedness."

Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina, first assistant postmaster general, has resigned his position and will become a worker for the Democratic national campaign committee. It was Mr. Roper who won fame when he discharged the assistant postmaster at Winnetka because that official criticized the president for having married too soon after the death of his first wife. Mr. Roper is credited with having compiled while in office thru statements from postmasters, a complete outline of political conditions in various communities.

One source of information has been from congressmen and each one who filed recommendations for a postmaster was required to make a statement about conditions. Armed with all this information it is not surprising that Mr. Roper has been requested to change his activities from the postal department to the Democratic committee.

August 15, 1812—The garrison of Fort Dearborn was massacred by the Indians while it was in the act of carrying out orders to evacuate the fort. Only 29 soldiers, 7 women, and 6 children survived; of these a number were later tortured to death.

the American Steel Foundries have an order involving $22,000,000. It is believed that these orders come from the Russian Government because a recent statement of Lloyd George was to the effect that England and France had worked their munitions plants up to a point where they were fully capable of meeting all requirements.

Larger caliber shells are now being ordered in this country because of their greater explosive power which enables the Allies to blast their way thru concrete emplacements and redoubts against which the small caliber shells were ineffective.

Very soon the Democratic orators will be telling about the "prosperity" and the "movies" will be showing the smoking chimneys.

Good Roads an Investment.

One of the most notable statements made yesterday about good roads was that the "cost" of good roads was an incorrect word if the money was intelligently spent. Dollars put into good roads mean an investment and better interest rates are possible from such investment than from almost any kind. The great troubles with expenditures for good roads is the lack of united action and carelessness in the plans used. The greatest boost for the good roads movement will come when people recognize this one fact, that a dollar spent for good roads should be charged up as an investment and not an expense. Money put into good roads will cut the cost of farm production transportation in marked degree and thus eventually reduce the cost to the consumer.

And still another strong point emphasized by one of the speakers Monday was that the good roads movement is as old as civilization and that history tells of road building thousands of years ago. It was pointed out that the reason there has not been greater road development in the United States has been because of the growth of railway systems. Now that these great systems have been completed, the development will naturally turn toward the "cross country" highways which will eventually bring all the territory into closer touch with the railroads.

ALEXANDER IS READY FOR BIG ROAD MEETING

Large Quantities of Burgoo is on the Fire—Program Prepared for an Interesting Day.

Several large kettles of burgoo soup are already on the fire, the stands and other equipment necessary for handling the crowds have been put up and all preparations are complete for the reception of hundreds of visitors at the first annual convention of the Peoria-St. Louis Good Roads association, "The Better Way." In addition to the program announced, Joe L. Long, the road expert who spoke in Jacksonville Monday, will make an address in the afternoon. The concert by the Ashland band will begin the forenoon program. The addresses by Frank Sheets, Ben F. Caldwell, William J. Butler, and Mr. Long will occur in the afternoon. SPRINGFIELD GETS NEXT BURLINGTON WAY MEET

NEXT CONVENTION WILL BE HELD AT ILLINOIS CAPITAL

Carl H. Weber Chosen President of Association—Constitution and By-Laws Adopted—Notable Address Made in Telling of Good Roads Movement.

Muddy roads and threatening weather interfered very materially with attendance of the annual meeting of the Burlington Way association held in this city Monday, but did not lessen the ardor of those present. All the larger cities along the way and nearly all of the smaller ones had arranged for large delegations to attend and it was only the condition of the roads which prevented the meeting from being by far the largest ever held by the association.

Springfield Won

Springfield won out over Rock Island and Cedar Rapids in the contest for the convention next year. Carl H. Weber, of this city, who declined to again serve as secretary-treasurer, was chosen president for the ensuing year. Incidentally many compliments were paid to Mr. Weber for the splendid work that he did as secretary. His efforts to promote the interests of the association and to have a great throng in Jacksonville for the annual meeting never flagged. The program of the day was carried out practically as outlined and included addresses by Mayor Rodgers and Rev. W. E. Spoons of this city, H. C. Wilhite of Greenfield, A. E. Nissen of Iowa City and J. L. Long of Moline. Two very successful balloon ascensions, one at noon and the other at 4:30 in the afternoon, furnished amusement features and the program of music by the Jeffries Concert band was of a high order.

At the business session a constitution and bylaws were adopted after a sharp debate on some of the sections. The question which occasioned most discussion was with reference to annual fees, which the constitution provided should be $1 a year. At 6 o'clock under the direction of the ladies of the First Baptist church a splendid barbecue supper was served. On account of the threatening weather the serving was done at the Y. M. C. A. building instead of Central park. The visitors from other cities expressed many times their appreciation for the preparations made and the courtesy extended by the people of Jacksonville.

The program of the day was begun with a concert by the Jeffries concert band who played with their usual excellence eliciting many handsome compliments. About 10:30 Rev. W. E. Spoons called the gathering to order and made some remarks in his usual happy vein putting everybody in good humor and then called on Mayor H. J. Rodgers who made an eloquent address of welcome. He referred to many notable things in the past and present of Jacksonville and said that citizens all joined in welcoming the visitors.

Miss Esther Spoons then followed by request with a recitation "The Old Virginia Dance," and her superior rendering of the selection delighted every one and she was loudly encored and responded with another piece given in her accomplished manner. Mr. Spoons then introduced E. A. Nissen of Iowa City, Iowa, who later was elected secretary of the Burlington Way association.

F. J. Waddell has returned from a trip to New York where he went on a purchasing expedition. While absent he visited Atlantic City where he had a visit with his sister, Mrs. Dawes, Mrs. G. W. Brown and daughter, Mrs. Helen Brown Read. The latter has an engagement to sing at a number of entertainments at Atlantic City and is adding to her fame as a vocalist in a gratifying manner. Mr. Waddell says the crops he noticed from the train in Illinois look rather encouraging in spite of the severe hot and dry weather of the past few weeks.

STORMS IN THE SOUTH

W. F. Brown who has recently arrived from his long stay with his daughter in Citronelle, Alabama, gives a graphic account of a severe storm down in Dixie. He says the weather there hasn't been nearly as oppressive as here but they had a fearful storm which did an immense amount of damage. Rain fell for eighteen hours, a part of the roof of the house he was in was blown off, the running gear of a wagon without the box was driven a hundred yards and an open buggy was carried a long distance. He visited the home of A. H. Sturtevant at Kushla and said Mr. Sturtevant's turpentine trees had been damaged fully fifty per cent, and that was the case generally with men owning that kind of property.

J. A. GROVES HERE FOR SHOOT.

James A. Groves, now of Chicago, is here to make arrangements for the big shoot at Nichols park tomorrow. Mr. Groves is now in charge of the Lincoln park gun club traps, the organization having grounds at the north end of the park where there is shooting every day but Sunday. Mr. Groves has great expectations regarding the two days' shoot which begins here tomorrow and says a large number of excellent shots may be expected.

FIRE DESTROYED RESIDENCE.

Fire destroyed the residence of J. A. Wyatt, 463 East Oak street, Sunday morning about 5 o'clock. The department was unable to render much assistance as the house was in the extreme northeast part of the city and so distant from a fire plug. The house was entirely consumed together with most of the contents. $600 insurance was carried on the house and $300 on the furniture. Fire Chief Hunt said yesterday that the only solution that he knew for the fire was that a telephone wire might have crossed with an electric wire, as members of the family found the telephone instrument burning when aroused from sleep by the smoke and blaze.

REUNION AT BALLARD HOME

Among those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oscar, Mrs. Charles Wood and family, of Virden, Mrs. A. R. Mitchell and family of Topeka, Kansas, Clarence Ashby of Modesto, F. E. Ashby and family of Granite City, S. A. Ashby and family, and Mrs. Ballard's father, W. T. Ashby of this city.

some agreement could be reached with the men, he would invoke his power to influence congress to pass an eight hour law were circulated but discounted by those in close touch with the situation.

"I would fight any attempt to pass such a measure," was the terse remark of Mr. Garretson, upon hearing the report.

There was discussion today of the possibility of the president being chief arbitrator in the dispute but his position was understood to be that he has not the time. There was a possibility that instead, he might name the so-called neutrals on the board.

The president's first conference was with representatives of the men headed by Mr. Garretson, the delegation, consisting of the executive officers of the four brotherhoods and six representatives from each, went to the white house and met the president in the green room.

The conference lasted two hours. Mr. Garretson did most of the talking for the employees. The president asked him for a full statement of the situation as the men viewed it. Mr. Garretson pointed out, it is understood that the only concrete proposal made in the entire dispute had come from the men, and said they felt that before they took further steps they should be advised what attitude the employers will assume and stand or fall on. He argued that the railroads summoned the mediators to New York and then had no mediation proposal to submit. Sufficient time has elapsed since the strike first was suggested and enough delays has ensued, Mr. Garretson is understood to have declared, to permit the railroads to submit any sort of an unqualified proposal which they might have in mind.

Many questions regarding the situation were asked by the president and the brotherhood representatives were impressed by his grasp of the situation. Three hours after the employees' representatives had left the white house the employers managers met the president. Elisha Lee, assistant general manager of the Pennsylvania, presented the railroads' side of the case. The president requested him to explain in detail wherein the employers and employees disagreed. When that had been made clear, Mr. Wilson urged that for patriotic reasons the two sides get together as quickly as possible.

The railroad managers immediately upon leaving the white house went into a secret conference among themselves which still was in session late tonight.

Judge W. L. Chambers of the federal board of mediation, who returned here early this morning with Secretary Tumulty, conferred with the president five times during the day, and was in constant communication with the representatives of the railroads and the employees.

While only the brief formal statement was forthcoming from the white house, it was indicated by administration officials that for the present the president regarded the situation as out of his hands with the next move up to the conferees.

The chief feature of the "contingency proposition" of the roads, which it is understood the road managers considered modifying or withdrawing at tonight's conference is a provision eliminating entirely all double compensation for employees working overtime or performing two classes of service. The proposition was presented by the roads after the men had made the demand for an eight hour day and extra pay for overtime. Shortly before midnight leaders of the road managers said that while their conference might continue for several hours they would have no announcement to make before tomorrow.

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

• The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the doubleraise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.

BIG PAVING PROGRAM HAS BEEN OUTLINED

ALL STREETS IN BUSINESS DISTRICT INCLUDED

Paving Planned For Other Streets Also Where Need is Great—Property Owners Asked to Express Preferences About Materials—South Jacksonville Wants Figure's on Sewerage Connection.

Two sessions of the city council were held Monday, one at 10 o'clock in the morning and the other at 1:30 in the afternoon, providing for a session was held to give the first reading to the ordinances providing for paving on Prairie street and West State street. At this session some interesting discussion developed with reference to paving on streets adjacent to the square. Briefly stated, the consensus of opinion was that this paving should be done just as speedily as possible and the mayor and commissioners hope that property owners will give some expression to their desires about the material to be used. If this is done the cost of preparing papers and the time required will be less and the time required will be shorter. If property owners do not express their preferences then the council will proceed to name the material that they think best and public hearings will be held. Recently it was shown that a majority of the property owners on West Court street between the square and West from the square North on Sandy street prefer creosote blocks. The ordinance providing for this pavement is now in course of preparation by Engineer Henderson.

Book Audit Completed

At the morning session after the reading of the minutes the report from the Hartford boiler company was presented showing the boilers at the light plant in good condition. Mr. Widmayer reported that the audit of the city books had been completed and accepted and this report was approved. The ordinance for the building of sidewalks on East State street where present walks are not in good condition was given a second reading and adopted. This ordinance will give the city authority to build walks and charge the cost against the property owners who decline or neglect to make the improvement.

South Jacksonville Wants Sewerage
Judge W. E. Thomson was before the council on behalf of certain residents of South Jacksonville who are desirous of building a sewer system there. He said that the property owners thought it might be feasible to construct a sewer system and connect with the Jacksonville sewers on South East street and Clay avenue and he presented the matter to the council in the expectation that they would investigate and give some idea of what the city would charge for such a connection. Someone asked whether connections could be made with South Main and Judge Thomson said that he supposed that this sewer was carrying all possible for it was connected with the Jacksonville state hospital. Mr. Cox said that that was the case and that it would not be feasible to connect with it. The mayor said that there had already been some discussion of building a trunk sewer in Jacksonville along the Brook and if this was done at some later time the cost could be taxed against the property benefitted and this could be extended to South Jacksonville if so desired. The whole matter was referred to Mr. Cox and Engineer Henderson to make an investigation and report.

At the afternoon session the first reading was given to the ordinance providing for the paving of Prairie street with asphalt and that providing for asphalt pavement on West State street. The second reading will probably be given at the meeting next Monday. Mayor Rodgers brought up the question of paving the streets adjacent to the square which had previously been considered informally and suggested a number of streets, all of which need new pavements or retopping and some of those approaching the square need widening.

Big Paving Program Planned

The list of proposed improvements suggested was as follows:
North Sandy from square to city hall, possibly to Lafayette avenue.
South Sandy from square to College street, possibly to Anna street.
West Morgan street from square to West street, possibly to Church and to Prairie street.
East Morgan street from square to East street, possibly to Clay avenue.
East Court street from square to East street.
West Court street from square to West street and possibly from Church street to Fayette street.
South Mauvaisterre street from square to College street and possibly to Franklin street.
South Mauvaisterre street from square to College street and possibly to Franklin street.
North Mauvaisterre street from square to East North street.
East street from North street to College street.
West street from College avenue to Lafayette avenue.
North street from Fayette street to Brown street or Illinois avenue.
North Church street from West

State to Wabash railroad and possibly farther.

East and West College avenue at least from Clay avenue to Prairie street.

Property Owners Opinions Wanted

The commissioners all seem to be of one mind that all this paving was needed and they were also of one mind that it would be very desirable and lessen the cost and work for the paving if property owners would let the council know what material they preferred. It is to be the policy of the council to meet the wishes of the majority if those wishes can be readily secured, and if not, then the council members themselves will use their best judgment.

As a majority of the frontage on West Court street from the square to West street and on Sandy street from the square to North street have expressed a preference for creosote blocks, an ordinance is in the course of preparation for these streets and will probably be extended to include the block from Court street on West State street to West street.

One statement brought the condition of Court street forcibly to mind, when Mr. Martin said it was in such condition that unless the holes were filled up that the city was likely to have a suit because of some personal injury. The mayor said that for temporary purposes those holes should be filled with cinders or tarvia and that the ordinance for paving should be pushed along just as rapidly as possible.

It was suggested that in order to secure the sentiment of the property owners on the various streets adjacent to the square that the council might send a city employee to interview all the property owners and ask their preferences, making the statement at the same time that the streets are certainly to be paved and that the council is seeking the information so that the wishes of the majority may prevail with reference to the material.

RETURNS FROM A TRIP TO ALASKA

W. A. Jenkinson Spent Several Weeks Pleasantly in the Northwest.

W. A. Jenkinson has returned from an extended tour of the north and reports a pleasant successful journey. He went over the Alton to Chicago, then by the Burlington to St. Paul, by the Northern Pacific to Winnipeg and by the Grand Trunk, new Pacific extension to the terminus by the waters of the greatest western ocean. He then took steamer for Shagway which has grown from a primitive landing to a thriving city and then took an Alaskan railroad to White Horse, a distance inland. He visited Yukon, Wrangell, Ketchikan and other places of interest in that far away land and was much delighted with what he saw and heard.

Showing how places change; Lake Bennett at the head of the lake on which gold seekers set out for Dawson and contiguous territory, was once a place of ten thousand inhabitants and now has hardly a dozen people in it the railroad having diverted travel away from it.

Mr. Jenkinson speaks highly of the new Grand Trunk road and says it is well built and finely managed. Diners accompany trains and in addition time is allowed passengers to stop at eating stations and get supplies cheaper. One attraction he visited is Jasper Park, Canada, a place almost as large as Yellowstone and while it has no geysers it has much grand and beautiful scenery. Hunting within its boundaries is strictly prohibited and in Canada that means no hunting, so that in time it is hoped that the wild animals will become as tame as those in Yellowstone. There are all kinds there, moose, elk, deer, bears of various kinds and others. The parks have been opened but two or three years but the railroad is rapidly developing it and in time it will doubtless become popular.

CHAPIN YOUNG PEOPLE

Walter Williams entertained a party of young people on a hay ride and outing recently. The party left Chapin about 9:30 o'clock in the morning and started for Mauvaisterre creek but the plans being somewhat changed they went to the Concord reservoir. Arriving there about noon a bountiful dinner consisting of fried chicken and all good things to eat was served. The girls furnished the edibles while the boys furnished a case of orange cider. Every body seemed to enjoy the hay ride immensely but had rather poor luck fishing in the afternoon. After the day had been well spent the party arrived in Chapin about 8:45 o'clock. Those present were: Misses Mabel Tholen of Jacksonville, Glenna Bridgman, Aileen Omer, Addie Fox, Ruth Bridgman, and Dean Antrobus, Harold Nergenah, Austin Moody and Walter Williams.

TO hold "its place in the sun," is the avowed purpose of a great nation's conflict. To hold "its place in the sun," is the object of every business in the great fight for industrial and commercial supremacy. To be able to hold "its place in the sun," is the supreme test of an asphalt roof. It is the sun, not rain or snow, that plays havoc with a roof. If it can resist the drying out process of the sun beating down upon it, day after day, the rain or snow will not affect it except to wash it clean and keep it sanitary.

Certain-teed Roofing

takes "its place in the sun" and holds it longer than other similar roofing, because it is made of the very best quality roofing felt, thoroughly saturated with the correct blend of soft asphalt, and coated with a blend of harder asphalt. This outer coating keeps the inner saturation soft, and prevents the drying out process so destructive to the ordinary roof.

The blend of asphalt used by "The General" is the result of long experience. It produces a roofing more pliable than those which have less saturation, and which are, therefore, harder and drier.

At each of the General's big mills, expert chemists are constantly employed to refine, test and blend the asphalt used; also to experiment for possible improvements. Their constant endeavor is to make the best roofing still better.

The quality of CERTAIN-TEED is such that it is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply). Experience proves that it lasts longer. Behind this guarantee is the responsibility of the world's largest manufacturer of roofings and building papers.

MONEY FOR GOOD ROADS REALLY AN INVESTMENT

J. L. Long of Moline Gives Interesting Facts About Road Building—Such Improvements Old as Civilization.

In Central Park during the afternoon program of the Burlington Way Association Joe L. Long, editor of "The Road Maker", published at Moline made an excellent address on "Bringing the Farmers Into Town." He said:

"I would not insult an audience of intelligent American citizens by making a speech in favor of good roads. I take for granted that every person before me realizes that a good road is better than a bad road, would rather have a good road than a bad road and that you are in favor of just exactly the same kind of a road that I am, which is one over which your family can travel in comfort and safety every day in the year, and one over which your products can be hauled with speed and economy 365 days in the year.

"It seems to me therefore that the only question that we are to discuss in dealing with the road problem is 'What are we going to do about it, and when are we going to do it.' In this connection I have nothing new to propose, but I trust that I may so emphasize some things that you will get my viewpoint, and will at least be for a definite program.

"The road movement is no sense a new thing notwithstanding the fact that many people believe it has its origin in the use of the automobile. We do not know just when the first good roads were built, but we do know that civilization upon good transportation facilities, and that no nation has failed to construct a system of main roads for the purpose of carrying on her commerce, her military and her civil activity. Egypt, Chaldea, Carthage, Persia, and Rome all built systems of roads, the Roman empire alone having at one time more than 50,000 miles of the finest roads of that stone type ever built; but I am not going to tire you with ancient history nor even with a description of the splendid roads built in France, England, and Germany.

"U. S. Greatest Road Builder
"It is a matter of common belief and comment that the United States has not kept pace with other nations in road building. Let me say now that we have nothing to be ashamed of in this respect. We are the greatest road builders the world has ever known. In less than four score years we have built five times the mileage of main roads that the Roman Empire constructed in its entire existence, and of a vastly better type. Just as we were beginning to construct the same kind of main roads that has answered the purpose in every other country in the world it was discovered that by laying two iron rails parallel and by using a special carriage that would fit the rails we could build a road over which freight and passengers could be moved at a speed and at a minimum cost such as no other road in the history of the world has made possible.

"With all the enthusiasm of a young nation we started building this new type of road, and in the span of a single life time we have built nearly one-half of the iron roads of the world. The value of land in this great black dirt belt has been created practically all together by this new and highly improved type of road built by the people of this progressive commonwealth, and which brought distant land near the market.
"We are now ready to begin on the other half of our transportation system, and when I say 'half' I speak conservatively, because it costs considerably more to move the products of this country over the rural roads than it does to move the entire railroad freight of America.
"Indifference Costly
"In discussing this problem I have some definite plans and ideas to put before you. I do not expect you to agree with me in every respect. I only ask that if you do not agree you intelligently disagree. If you are not in favor of the thing I am in favor of it, at least be able to say what you are in favor of. Be FOR something. Do not be satisfied to be simply against things, because the man who is against things is the menace of civilization in all ages, while the man who is for things, even tho he be wrong, has after all been responsible for every forward step in the history of the human race.

"In the first place let me say that the hardest thing for us to agree upon is the simplest statement of facts. We differ very much more often in regard to the facts than we do in regard to the theory to be followed. Even upon the simplest definition we find altogether different meanings accepted by different people. Following our American custom of calling a thing what it isn't, we find the word 'permanent' as relating to roads, applied almost exclusively to the only part of the road that is expected to wear out. Let me say that the most permanent road work ever done is to take a shovelful of dirt from a place where you will never want it and put it where you will always want it. As a business proposition you would be better justified in distributing the cost for the earth work upon which your road surfaces are expected to rest over a period of one thousand years than you would to charge up to the citizens twenty-five years from now a part of the cost of the ordinary type of uniformity of opinion and belief. I like to use the term 365 Day in the Year Road because it is about the only thing that expresses the desire of all of us.

"The Kind of Roads Needed
"What everyone wants is a road over which they can travel, whenever they want to travel, in comfort and safety and over which they can haul a load, whenever they want to haul a load, with economy and speed. In other words a road that can be used for all ordinary purposes with the ordinary amount of work every day in the year.

"Now I take it that one of two propositions will be admitted by every citizen. Either a good road is a good road buy or else it isn't. If it is not, then the sooner all of this talk is dropped the better. If it is, the sooner we get the road, as long as we buy them on proper terms and at a fair value, the better. In other words it is not a question of 'Can we afford Good Roads,' but it is a question of 'What Kind of Road is the best value for the money and How Much Longer can We Afford the Luxury of Bad Roads.' Let me say right here that it is not necessary to depend for ever and always in these matters upon the action of the Legislature. Every forward movement in history has begun outside the law, demonstrated its usefulness to society in spite of the law and finally been adopted by the law after it has proven its right to live.
"Every community has just exactly the kind of roads to which it is, as a community, entitled, and whenever any community, as such, really and truly desires better conditions it is always able to bring it about. It is therefore up to you to make of your community the proper place in which to live. Let me say that there are no enemies of good roads except fool friends. The only argument against good roads is a bad argument for them. The worst of our fool friends are those who are always planning some system whereby we can get good roads for nothing. The manner in which they propose to bring this about reminds me of the plans that the Arkansas doctor had for a big feast. He was ten miles from town and hungry, and he said to his friend, 'Gee, if we just had some ham, we'd have some ham and eggs, if we had some eggs.'

"Roads are not going to come primarily as the result of a lot of hot air or red paint. It takes real work and a real investment. We must take roads out of our expense account and put them on the side of capital invested. If they won't pay dividends in reduced expenses, increased earning or greater enjoyment, then we don't want them at all. If they will pay dividends in any or all three of these departments of human accounting, as we believe they will, then the sooner we get busy the sooner we will commence to get some of our money back.

"If we undertook to build a courthouse today as we are building roads we would levy a small tax and the first year dig a hole in the ground; then next year we would hire a new foreman and a new gang of men (so as to spread it around) clean out the hole, and build a foundation. If we didn't have a change of administration before another year rolled around we would (theoretically speaking) lay the floor and possibly build a little bit of wall. In this way we would (theoretically) complete a courthouse in a period of years possibly covering ten to thirty, but I wonder how many of us would figure that would be a business like way of making the investment. Well that's the way you are building roads in these communities.

"Notwithstanding the constant assertion on the part of the farmer won't buy a good thing when he sees it, I am firmly of the opinion that the farmer wants to know first that the good thing is good, and second that he will get it when he pays for it. The attitude of mind with which he looks upon the proposition to vote a million dollars, without a definite understanding as to where it will go, is about the same as that with which Mandy viewed her approaching marriage. She asked her mistress if she would do her a favor and upon her expression that she would be glad to do so, Mandy wanted her to take care of $200 she had saved up. 'But won't you want it to buy cooking utensils and things to go to housekeeping with,' said Mrs. Johnson. 'I specs I will, Mrs. Johnson, I specs I will after a while, but you don't s'pose I wants to truss myself wid a strange nigger wid all dat money does you?' Let me say that Illinois is very closely approximating the proposition of selling roads to the people marked in plain figures.

"What does it mean to this state to have a system of 365 day in the year roads? First let me say that I have no patience with the agitators who preach back to the farm movement. That is out of date with modern transportation methods. What we want now is to move every farm in the great black dirt belt into town. In order to do that, it is only necessary that we connect up with the town by means of a 365 day in the year road. There is not a farm in central Illinois that is more than twenty miles from a railroad station with a good road.

"There are four groups of problems that we discuss in connection with rural life. They are, greater production, education of the farmer's boy and girl, social life, particularly for his wife and grown daughter, and the development of a community spirit.

"I challenge anyone to point out how there could be anything left of any one of these problems if every farm was connected with its community center by a 365 day in the year road. The mere fact that such system of road exists strikes the word 'rural' out of the language of that community. It becomes a unit without further action. Is it worth the cost?

"Leaving out of consideration financial reasons, forgetting the fact that a system of roads will reduce expense, omitting from our balance sheet any increased earnings or increased value, do you not think that it would be well worth all it would cost you, just from the standpoint of adding to your opportunities to enjoy life?

"After all we spend but a small part of our income for mere existence. The great bulk of it goes for things that we enjoy. Wholly from the standpoint of enjoyment a luxury if you want to call it that, don't you believe that this community, or any other community as rich and prosperous as this one, can well afford to provide for itself the opportunity and the pleasure of being able to visit and mingle with other members who naturally belong to that community and who should be your neighbors?

"It is up to you. If you will you may; if you do not so will, you will continue to paddle around in the mud, while the more progressive communities look upon you with mingled pity and contempt."

STRIKING THE CHORD

I sang a song once on a time,
I sang in verse of flowing rhyme,
Of banquets held in goodly halls,
Of gorgeous court and stately ball,
I sang of cities fair to see,
Of castles filled with victor's spoil,
Of men who scorned the sight of toil.
But empty echoes answered me;
The world was tired of luxury.

I sang again, but not of ease,
I sang in stirring melodies
Of men with martial valor steed,
Of glorious deeds on bloody field;
I sang of battles o'er the seas,
Of play of swords and clash of arms
Where bugles blow with loud alarm,
Men hissed, and bade the music cease
The world was seeking rest and peace.

I sang once more, of toil and strife,
Of tragic death and intense life
Where men pursue the phantom,
Wealth,
With cunning trickery and stealth
I sang of treasure bought and sold,
Of workers who must sweat and bleed
To satisfy the magnate's greed,
Men stopped me ere my tale was told
They cared not for the lure of gold.

At last I sang in accents clear
Of One who was a pilgrim here,
Of Him who died that we might live,
Who gave what no one else could give;
I told the story o'er again
Of Him who triumphed o'er the grave,
Of Christ the Lord, who came to save.
The world in rapture listened then;
My song had touched the hearts of men.

Roads NOW' are a good thing, ask a horse."

"If the roads around a town are bad, it might as well be on an island."

"In considering Good Roads, remember that no town looks so good to the farmer that he will kill his horse to get there."

"Good Roads Now' will increase wealth, health, happiness, education, religion, morality, civilization and prosperity."

"Good Roads Now' have a moral, civic and educational value which cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Good schools cannot be reached unless we have good roads."

"Good Roads Now' are a valuable trade mark for any community, and prove a blessing to the people who build them."

"Was it in your township that some ignoramus pulled the sod into the middle of the road?"

"Good Roads Now' will encourage the country folks to come to town, and will bring the city folks out in the country for fresh air."

"The better the roads to a farmer's residence, the closer it brings his farm to town, thereby increasing the value of same."

"A farm ten miles from town on a Good Road is nearer than a farm five miles from town on a Poor Road."

"Did you ever hear this? The only way he could get to town was by telephone."

"Take care of the dirt roads, and the hard roads will come in time. It is usually the case that the community that will not attempt to improve and take care of a dirt road will never take care of a hard road."

"Good Roads in wet weather will allow the farmer to go to town when he cannot work in the field, instead of being obliged to do as he must now, go to town when he ought to be in the field."

"Good Roads encourage the boys and girls to stay on the farm, as they are then really only in the suburbs of a city, even if ten miles or more distant from the city."

"Good Roads Now' will encourage the use of automobiles and thus cause the farmer to become better acquainted with his own township, county and state, and by so doing make him a better and more desirable citizen of Illinois."

"Good Roads Now' saves the farmer's time, horses, harness, wagons, buggies, temper, money, and if he has an automobile (and about one-third of the farmers in Iowa have one), it will save time, gasoline, oil, wear and tear on auto, and a great deal of profanity."

"Good Roads Now' will assist in crystallizing a sentiment in favor of the consolidated school movement, which in my judgment is the strongest argument in favor of good roads."

"Good Roads Now' will increase the selling value of every farm, and in my judgment, if a farmer paid $25 per acre to build a '365 day in the year' road along his farm, and same was connected with the same kind of a road to his trading center, it would increase the selling value of his farm at least $50 per acre."

"One mile of 'Good Roads Now' is better than 100 miles in 1926."

"Better build 'Good Roads Now' and pay for them on installments, instead of building them in installments and paying for them now. (By loss of time, wear and tear on automobiles, horses, vehicles, etc.)"

"It is no more fair or just to wait for permanent roads until the money is available, than it would be to wait for court houses, schools, or other permanent improvements, therefore, it is fair and just to issue bonds and thus get 'Good Roads Now' and let the future help pay for same."

"There are a thousand reasonable arguments in favor of 'Good Roads Now' and no reasonable arguments against them."

Secretary's Annual Report

Secretary Weber made his annual report which covered the year's work in a clear but brief way. He said briefly: "The parent trail has been extended to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and from thence to St. Paul, which is now the northern terminus. The towns and cities in northern Iowa and Minnesota have shown unusual interest in the routing and have made guaranties to the improvement and maintenance of the trail which give ample assurance that this section will not only uphold the traditions of the Way but will in fact be a distinct credit to the entire route."

"A division known as the Springfield Division has been organized and placed from the junction with the parent trail at Greenfield to Bloomington and nothing has been left undone to make it indeed a banner section. From Springfield the division has been established as far as Peoria which has been marked in excellent manner in accordance with the rules of the association. The Rock Island division authorized by the 1915 convention was authorized and thoroughly marked as far as Astoria and later was extended to Rock Island. Still more recently an extension was made from Rock Island to Cresco, Iowa, where it joins the parent trail for St. Paul. In addition to these extensions many extensions of the parent trail have been remarked and much improvement has been made on the road bed. Nearly the entire mileage has been designated as state aid road and considerable oiling has been done under state supervision."

Program of publicity

"During the past year an extensive publication campaign has been carried on and thanks are due to the press of the stations on the route for their generous space. The secretary also compiled and issued 10,000 official guide books and careful distribution has been made. During the past six months the Burlington Way has received official recognition in the distribution of federal aid. The officers of the association have given freely of time and money and with an immense amount of hard work have sought to foster good roads sentiment and to develop in every way possible. Your secretary would recommend as a program for the ensuing year extension of the parent trail to Galveston or New Orleans on the south and to Winnipeg, Canada, on the north. The Springfield division should be extended to Chicago and thence to Milwaukee. The Peoria division to Madison, Wis., connecting with Chicago by the Lincoln highway. All efforts should be concentrated in extending the trail as it now exists and no new divisions established."

The Afternoon Program

The afternoon program began at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. Mr. Spooner acting as presiding officer. The audience was of good size in spite of the lowering weather. Those appearing did well without exception. Following are the numbers:

Mr. Reeves Made Address

The interest of the up-to-date town does not stop with the city limits; it is the interest of the county as a whole said Mr. Reeve, in beginning a brief but interesting address. The two greatest factors in the progress of this country are the farmer and the manufacturer. Without the prosperity of these two classes, there can be no prosperity of the nation. To true prosperity good roads are essential. The products of the farm must have easy access to the city and the factory. The manufacturer must have a free and easy way to the source of raw materials, the farm. Mr. Reeve called attention to the fact that roads are at their worst when the farmer has the time of greatest leisure, in the late winter and early spring, a time also when markets for farm products stand at the highest notch.

Beginning at 5 o'clock the ladies of the First Baptist church served barbequed meat in the basement of the Y. M. C. A. building. Mrs. O. N. Barr was in general charge. Z. A. Muehlhausen prepared the meat, which formed the basis of a liberal as well as palatable meal.

The tickets for the evening performance at the Airdome were given out to all who purchased barbeque tickets. For the 7:15 o'clock show the house was almost full and at the second show there were but few less. The program included three excellent film productions.

OLD SETTLERS AND VETERANS TO HAVE A REUNION

Event is Scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 22 in Connection With Chautauqua.

The Old Settlers and the Old Soldiers, all of whom are old settlers, will enjoy a picnic and reunion on Tuesday, Aug. 22, at the Chautauqua. There will be an informal morning program commencing at 10:30. This program will consist of old time music by Capt. J. E. Wright and W. S. Lorton and others, and short talks by pioneers. These anecdotes and experiences of the pioneers and early social life of our county will be related by men well known in the community. At 12:30 there will be a basket picnic dinner.

At 2 p. m. there will be a concert by the celebrated White Hussars Singing Band after which Bishop Fallows will deliver an address suitable to the occasion and he will be followed by the Hon. Hugh S. Magill in an address on Illinois.

In the evening at 7:30 there will be another concert by the White Hussars Band, and a demonstration of the wonders of electricity by Prof. Louis Williams. The evening program will be concluded by moving pictures.

During the morning program solid silver spoons will be awarded to:

The oldest man, native of Morgan, Cass or Scott counties.

The oldest woman, native of Morgan, Cass or Scott counties.

The oldest man settler of Morgan, Cass or Scott counties.

The oldest woman settler of Morgan, Cass or Scott counties.

The oldest married couple, either natives or settlers.

The oldest Veteran of the Civil War.

The youngest Veteran of the Civil War.

An opportunity will be given to display from the platform old flags, uniforms, wedding costumes and other souvenirs of pioneer days.

The old settlers and veterans enjoyed hugely the meetings of last year. These pioneers are rapidly passing on and the Chautauqua management hopes that all will join in honoring those who made possible the privileges we enjoy.

Bring all the Old Settlers and Old Soldiers and their families with well filled baskets and enjoy the music and stories of the pioneers days under the big, cool, comfortable tent in Nichols Park.

NEEDLE IN THE FOOT

A few days since the little two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carpenter residing near Shiloh, ran a headless black pin into his right foot. The pin was an inch or more long and it went in half an inch beyond the surface. Mr. Carpenter brought the child to Dr. Kennibrew who made an examination and successfully removed the pin and carefully dressed the wound. Mr. Carpenter feels that the little one had a close call tho there are all indications that recovery without lock-jaw will be complete.

HOPEFUL ABOUT CROPS

S. H. Crum of Litterberry was in the city yesterday and to a Journal reporter he said that he felt confident there would be a better yield of corn than had been predicted by a good many farmers. He thought from what he had seen that there would be fully three fourth of a normal yield instead of the half which so many have prophesied. Mr. Crum is a successful farmer and a close observer and has spent practically all his life in Morgan county and is well qualified to judge of the agricultural prospects here.

Dr. H. L. Griswold returned Monday from Quincy, where he had been for a brief visit with relatives. Mrs. Griswold and their children remained for a further stay.

European War

Dickinson—European Anarchy. "Addressing himself to America, the writer maintains, upon a review of diplomatic history, that the present war cannot be laid at the door of any one state, but to a condition of international disorder that all great modern states, caring for power and wealth, have permitted to exist; and especially to the European system of armed alliance, with its inevitable outcome of mutual suspicion. The conclusions emphasize the need of an adequate body of international law, supported by armed force." A. L. A. Bkl.

A BAD WOUND

A few days since a threshing machine man in the east part of the county repaired the gearing on the elevator of his machine with some old baling wire and later as a wagon was backing toward it J. B. Corrington who was standing near, feared an accident and put out his right hand to guard the elevator when he ran a sharp end of the wire into his finger. At first the wound seemed to be slight but yesterday pain and swelling developed and the hand seemed to be in a serious condition and fears of blood poisoning are entertained tho the gentleman's many friends hope he will soon recover.

SERVICES AT NORTHMINSTER

Altho the weather was threatening the services at Northminster church were reasonably well attended Sunday. The Sunday school felt the effects of inclement weather to some extent tho there was a good attendance. The young people's meeting was also interesting. The sermons by Rev. Mr. Johnston of Petersburg were both good. His remarks to the children's church from the text, "Son, give me thy heart," were well adapted to his youthful hearers. The gentleman left a good impression on the people he addressed.

A UNIQUE AUTOMOBILE

In the front window of the hardware store of H. L. and B. W. Smith is a curiously constructed automobile. The wheels are gloves, the guards are sheet iron tire setters, the running board a level, the hood is a Russia iron oven, the radiator is a register box, the tool box a deed box, the brake a long pair of wire cutters, the seat a grass catcher, the crank a food chopper, the lights small funnels, the steering rod a mop stick and other articles make up the ingenious contrivance.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MISS HUGHES HELD MONDAY

Dr. Morey Tells of Her Devotion and Service in Life—Burial in Diamond Grove.

Funeral services for Miss Eliza Hughes were held Monday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the residence on West State street. Dr. A. B. Morey officiating. The many beautiful flowers were cared for by Mrs. Frank Byrns, Mrs. C. A. Barnes and Mrs. Charles Ehnie. The bearers were: Frank Byrns, Charles Ehnie, M. C. Hook, Walter Ayers, C. H. Russell and Edward Dunlap. Following the services at the house the cortege motored to Diamond Grove where interment was made.

In the course of his remarks Dr. Morey said: "It was said of one of the greatest men mentioned in the Bible that 'After he had served his own generation he fell asleep.' That may seem to be a small thing to say of a great man, but it is really the greatest eulogy that could be pronounced upon the greatest. Need it be said of her from whom we part today that she served her own generation? She served them in the day school, as many men and women were proud to say. 'She was our teacher! She served them in the Sabbath school, teaching there many years, not by fits and starts, but keeping at it until her age told her it was time to stop, and it is this steady doing of duty which tells and counts.'

Dr. Morey in continuing told of the duty Miss Hughes had fulfilled in her home. She was always willing to do what she could. Everything she did had a purpose in doing that thing. She would say that life without a purpose was like taking the cover from a sewing basket and finding scissors, thread, spoils and thread and all that a seamstress might need, but minus the needle. In conclusion Dr. Morey said: "A life that is lived out to its close is never outlived. After serving her own generation she fell asleep. God sends us to sleep to see what death is. He takes us as we take our little ones and when we are wearied. He puts us to sleep, not the sleep which is endless forgetting, but the sleep which refreshes and renews—the sleep which is the promise of awakening upon an eternal morning."

A FANCY AUTOMOBILE

Little Helen, daughter of H. C. Lynn rode out yesterday in an automobile which was indeed a curiosity. It was cleverly constructed in miniature form with several mottoes on it. "We want better roads," "Go to Modern Garage" and other sentiments were conspicuous on the tiny vehicle. The motive power was the young lady's brother but she did the guiding altho very small. The outfit attracted considerable attention. It had a rear number, 318,111.

OLD RESIDENT HERE.

BURLINGTON WAY OFFICERS

PLAN FOR YEAR'S WORK

Executive Committee Held Meeting Monday Night—Definite Plans in Mind for Extension.

Four of the five members of the Burlington Way's new executive committee met last evening to discuss coming plans for the activity to be commenced soon. All members were present with the exception of F. W. Young of Rock Island, vice-president of the association, who had to catch an early train for his home. The committee discussed general business plans and some exciting things bid fair to happen on the Burlington Way this year. The committee decided to meet at Carthage on the evening of Tuesday, August 29, to consider the routing of the parent trail. The trail, as it now stands runs from Rushville, to Macomb, from Macomb to Blandinsville, there to LaHarpe, from LaHarpe to East Fort Madison, and from East Fort Madison to Fort Madison. Secretary Nissen stated last night that this division had been dead for the past two years and that they were warned during the convention last year that if action was not taken in regard to repainting the poles and improving the conditions in general, serious consequences would follow. Apparently little attention was paid to this warning, for two months ago it was found necessary for the officers to reprimand the officers of the division again and again they paid no attention to the warning.

Keokuk and Carthage Interested

The new executive committee decided that if enough interest was not taken to keep that section of the trail in condition equal to that found on other parts of this great roadway, that the division ought to be re-routed. It was also stated that Keokuk and Carthage were very anxious to have the trail pass through these cities, and it is very probable that they will get the route. The trail as it will probably run when re-routed will be from Rushville to Cambridge, from Cambridge to Augusta, from Augusta to Bowen, from there to Bentley, from Bentley to Carthage, from Carthage to Elveston, and from there to Hamilton. The trail from Hamilton to Fort Madison is still undecided. If the trail takes the east side of the river it will pass thru the old Mormon town of Nauvoo and East Fort Madison. If it is decided that the trail will cross to the west side of the river it will pass thru Keokuk, Montrose and from there to Fort Madison. There are advantages either way and the committee is still undecided. Keokuk has a thriving Auto Club of 205 members who are very enthusiastic and desirous of having the trail pass thru there. With this organization back of the association, the trail interests should thrive in that locality.

Sec. Nissen Will Be Busy

With the proposed new routing the parent trail should build up and become one of the best divisions once again. Secretary Nissen expects to devote at least one half of his time to the Burlington Way. He is an expert in organization work and will get results. He and the new president Carl H. Weber will get together today and talk over plans.

Robert Burns, the pedestrian who has been in the city for some time will leave Wednesday morning and will continue on the trail of the orange and white to St. Louis. When he reaches there he will have completed the Burlington Way from St. Paul to St. Louis. He will return by train from St. Louis to Beardstown and from there he will take the trail thru Cedar Rapids and Cresco, Ia., to St. Paul. By that time he will have completed both branches of the Burlington Way from St. Paul to St. Paul.

Co-Operative Oiling Plan

Indications last night pointed to the fact that the committee would not be idle in its extension work the coming year. The first extension planned is from Bloomington to Chicago. The second will be the Peoria, Farmington extension. This will make a direct Rock Island, Peoria, and Springfield trail. Then the next extension planned will extend from Peoria to Rockford and from there to Madison, Wis. and from St. Louis the trail will be marked to New Orleans. All this the executive committee hope to accomplish before the end of the fiscal year. They also hope to work a co-operative plan for road oiling. It is hoped that the business men will become more interested and will pay a certain percentage for the work, the farmers a certain interest and the balance of the expense be borne by the counties. Secretary Nissen has also been authorized to obtain all federal and state aid that is possible. It will readily be seen that the men at the head of the Burlington Way Good Roads Association do not expect to be idle during the coming year. They are all good roads enthusiasts and all capable of handling the work that has been assigned to them. Without a doubt under their able leadership the Burlington Way will flourish and will become even a more popular trail than it now is.

EMINENT SURGEONS COMING.

The plans have been entirely perfected for the picnic to be given Thursday at the Black farm by the medical societies of Morgan and Scott counties and good weather is all that is needed to make the event a success. Dr. Black has been advised that Dr. L. G. Dowdree of Minneapolis, head of the medical department of the University of Minnesota, and Dr. D. S. Fairchild of Clinton, Iowa, also a prominent surgeon, will accompany Dr. Mayo here from Rochester.
